AMERICAN ECONOMIC JOURNALS

Continue the Discussion Online

In order to encourage and facilitate the exchange of ideas, the American Economic Journals invite AEA members and contributing authors to participate in online discussion forums. Here you can discuss, ask questions, or post teaching materials, PowerPoint presentations, working papers, datasets, or other materials related to the articles published in any of our four quarterly journals.

Joining the discussion is simple. Go to any American Economic Journal listed on the AEA Journals home page www.aeaweb.org/journals to search and view articles. Visit the summary record and find the "comments" tab to participate in the forum for that particular article.

The American Economic Association Continuing Education Program 2018

Stay Abreast of the Latest Developments in Teaching and Research...

Philadelphia, PA on January 7–9, 2018

Immediately after the ASSA annual meeting.

The AEA's Continuing Education Program aims to help mid-career economists and others maintain the value of their human capital. It is tailored primarily to faculty at liberal arts colleges and teaching-oriented state universities that may have fewer research opportunities than colleagues at universities with PhD programs. The lecturers are leading scholars who also are excellent expositors. The focus is on content to help improve teaching and research.
